

These mirrors are this season's answer to the fairytale question. Round and square frames steal the show while black or black finishes make a trendy statement. Mirrors deserve their rising popularity with their near-magical ability to enlarge spaces and create alluring ambience. —Angela Heck

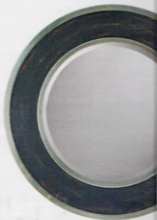

The hand-carved wood Round Petal mirror by Trade Winds Furniture alternates concave and convex scallop shapes to create a unique ripple effect ($250). IFC I1110

Waves crest around Stein World's wall mirror with its round beveled glass and dark finish ($340). IFC W447-H

Faux shagreen leather, mimicking the color and patterns of stingray skin, radiates out from a circular mirror in artfully staggered rays in the Claude mirror from Made Goods ($1,200). IFC I1403

Sleek and utterly simple, this round mirror boasts an aged brown and silver finish ($299)