1 / DIMAS MIRROR BY MADE GOODS FROM STELLADALLAS

"Everyone loves a sunburst mirror," proclaims David Kleinberg. This 1960s-inspired version, rimmed with brass-finished wire, is versatile, he says: "You could put it in a very girly room or a minimalist space." Liz O'Brien sees it hanging above a console for decorative effect. "This is a modern take on a time-honored form," she says. A larger size is also offered. 35" dia. x 2" d.; $618; shopstelladallas.com

2 / BABEL BOOKCASE BY PAOLA NAVONE FROM DDC

"Very energetic," O'Brien says of the bookcase's jagged silhouette. She envisions it in a fashion-forward loft, anchoring a wall, or floating in the middle of a room. "I like the combination of iron and leather," says Kleinberg, pointing out the hammered frame and soft, suede-like shelves. A wider version and alternate leather color are also available. 71" h. x 36" w. x 14" d.; $6,810; ddcnyc.com

3 / ORIGAMI COCKTAIL TABLE BY WEST ELM

Kleinberg is a fan of this lightweight cocktail table, which pairs an intricate bone-tile top with a spare steel base. "It's like a girl wearing a fancy jacket with jeans," he says, adding, "this can go anywhere." To O'Brien, the table's petite scale makes it ideal for situating between two chairs or in front of a small sofa. "I see it in a sophisticated country house," she says. 28" dia. x 18" h.; $399; westelm.com

4 / GRILLAGE ARMCHAIR BY FRANÇOIS AZAMBOURG FOR LIGNE ROSET

A single sheet of wire mesh forms the back and seat of this low-slung, all-weather chair. "It reminds me of the folded cloth of a kimono," says O'Brien. Kleinberg likes the curves: "Even though bending metal takes a lot of force, this has a fluid, natural look." He pictures it on the terrace of a contemporary apartment. The chair comes in two additional colors. 39" w. x 27" d. x 28" h.; $1,005; lignerosetry.com

5 / WIRE ZIG ZAG STOOL/SIDE TABLE BY TUCKER ROBBINS

To Kleinberg, this piece recalls Brancusi's primitive sculptures. "It has whimsy and practicality," he says, adding that it could work beside an 18th-century French chair or a contemporary Italian one. "It's fun to have a small stool that can be moved around," adds O'Brien. The indoor-outdoor table (available to the trade) comes in additional finishes and a larger size. 18" h. x 15" dia.; $990; tuckerrobbins.com
